

WASHINGTON, April 6.
THE SICKLES TRIAL.—The Court met at the usual hour, and proceeded with examining a jury. The first twenty-three called were all rejected for incapacity, all kind in the matter.
 The call then proceeded, but up to the fifth name at the time this dispatch closes, no juror had been sworn.

NEW YORK, April 6.
LATER FROM EUROPE.—Steamship New York, from Bremen via Southampton 23d, has arrived.

Steamship Canada, from Boston, arrived at Liverpool on the 21st.
 The steamer Canada brought the crew and passengers of the brig Agnes, of Glasgow, which sunk on the 19th, after collision with the Persia.

The political news is of a more pacific character.
Four Days Later from San Francisco.
 St. Louis, April 4.—The Overland Mail arrived here last evening, bringing San Francisco dates of the 11th ult.

The loss of the express bag deprives us of our usual news summary, and the few scattered papers received are quite barren of news.

The ships Argo, Carrier Dove, and Edward Stanley had arrived at San Francisco from New York; the Winsell Scott, from Boston; the Elvira, from Cardiff; the barque Euplo (P) from Glasgow, and the Bird, from Hong Kong.

Formidable Indian War Threatened.
 St. Louis, April 4.—The St. Joseph Journal learns that an extensive war is on foot between the various Indian tribes on the Plains, headed by the Minnecongues, and that negotiations are now pending between the Cheyennes, Arapahoes, Comanches and other tribes.

A Fugitive Slave Case.
 PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—Before the U. S. Commissioner to-day, the case of the negro, Daniel Webster, an alleged fugitive slave from Athensville, Virginia, is being heard.

On conducting the fugitive to the Commissioner's Office this morning a most exciting scene ensued.
 Hundreds gathered along the route and there was every evidence of a forcible seizure being determined on.

Marshal Jenkins made such a movement that left no doubt that the first man who interfered, did so on the peril of his life; he thus succeeded in safely conducting Daniel before the Commissioners.

The fugitive's counsel objected to the power of attorney of claimant's counsel as mere transcript from and not a full record of the Court of Loudoun county, Virginia.

The trial is progressing, and the court room guarded by a large force of police.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

SP.—A meeting of the supporters of the Supreme Court in the First and Second meetings, was held at the State House last night. Dr. David King was called to the chair, and Mr. Job F. Langley and J. S. Kings appointed Secretaries.

A. Payne, Esq., of Providence, addressed the meeting in a long and forcible speech. After which a committee of fifteen was appointed to nominate candidates for the Assembly, and a series of resolutions adopted.

The following candidates were then reported by the committee and accepted by the meeting. After which they adjourned.

For Senator—THOMAS H. HUNTER.
 For Representatives—Wm. P. SHEFFIELD, JOSEPH ANTHONY, PARSON W. STEVENS, JAMES FINCH, and JOHN T. BUSH.

THE ASSEMBLY TICKETS.—The Republican party having thought best to nominate no separate Assembly ticket in this city, there promises to be a general scrub race, in which we can only advise our readers to select the men they think best. What the result will be, no human foresight can tell. Our friend Van Zandt seems to have succeeded in driving both parties in double harness. It is quite an achievement, and we wish him joy of it, though he can hardly hope for a long course without some interference between his steeds. Which nag do you ride after the election, Van?

WE notice by the Taunton GAZETTE, that the movement for a steamer between that place and Newport, has been successful, and the Golden Gate has been ordered for the route, to be put on, probably, about the first of June. The same thing will be attempted in years before, namely, to make the trip between Taunton and Newport, touching at Fall River and Rocky Point each way. The Golden Gate was chartered last year by Captain Winslow, to run between Providence and Rocky Point, and is a swift and commodious boat. We think, however, more work has been marked out for the boat than she can do, and do well. No boat has ever been able to make the trip between Taunton and Newport alone, in a day, and allow more than two hours in Newport; and when Rocky Point is added, some twenty miles more will have to be accomplished, reducing the time at least another hour. We repeat, no experiment of that description will ever be successful, except in connection with the railroads.

MINISTERIAL CHANGES.—The Conference of the M. E. Church for this district, have made the following ministerial changes affecting this locality: Rev. Mr. Husted goes to Fair Haven; Rev. Mr. Lyon to Schuylkill. To supply their places here, Rev. Henry S. White, from New Bedford, goes to the Marlborough Street, and Rev. W. H. Richards, of Phoenix, to the Thames Street, Methodist churches.

We take from the N. Y. Tribune the following notice of James Guthrie, who seems now to have the best chance of the Democratic nomination for the Presidency in 1868.

"Mr. Guthrie is a strong man, intellectually and physically. He is more than sixty years old, but has been little in public life, owing to the antagonism of his political views to those which prevailed in Louisville and Kentucky during the better portion of his mature life. Forty years ago, when he was not nearly so rich as he is now, he came in collision with Mr. Clay in the fierce controversy between the bankrupt and the solvent portions of the people of Kentucky, engendered by the creation of a new Court to uphold Stop-Laws in a season of general embarrassment, whence the terms of 'New Court' and 'Old Court' parties. Mr. Clay was an 'Old Court,' Mr. Guthrie a 'New Court' man, and the antagonism thus engendered continued to the death of the former. Hence Mr. Guthrie became a Jackson man, and in due time was dubbed a 'Democrat,' which, as he is about the most decided aristocrat in Kentucky, was of about the average impropriety. Mr. Guthrie is very rich, very independent in his notions, a heavy slaveholder, and a very determined champion of Slavery. He has been a Member of the Kentucky Senate, of the last Constitutional Convention of that State, and presided over the Treasury Department under President Pierce with decided ability. He is at heart for a Protective Tariff, but thinks the rose would smell sweeter or less rankly by some other name. He is rather opposed to public robbery, and would make a better President than the Sham Democratic party has ever yet elected."

Later from Havana.
 The United States mail steamer Canawba, J. D. Hullock, Esq., commander, has arrived from New Orleans and Havana. Left the latter port on the evening of the 30th of March. We are under obligations to the purser for the files of papers, and the following memoranda:—

The gay season at Havana is nearly over, and as a natural consequence, people are leaving for the North. Among the passengers, per Canawba, are a portion of the opera troupe of Max Maretzek, comprising the prima donnas Gazzingia and Alvirio, and the artists Stefani, Maccacferri, Azzone, and others. Maretzek, with the remainder, will follow shortly.

The sugar market is dull—nothing doing. Stock, 207,000 boxes. Freight slightly improved. Exchange—London unsteady at 11 prem.; New York 1-2 to 1-4 discount; New Orleans par to 1 prem.; U. S. gold not in demand.

On the 1st inst., lat. 31 45, lon. 78 55 exchanged signals with one of the U. S. line of New Orleans packets, bound to the Northwest. On the 2d inst., lat. 33 56, lon. 78, exchanged signals with an American brig steering N. E.; was painted black with white stripe and cabin green.

The Canawba took, on freight, from New Orleans, $247,000 in doubloons for Havana, and $60,000 in specie for New York.

We learn through a postscript to a private mercantile letter, that an immense fire was raging through the cane on the sugar estates near Matanzas and Cardenas, and that the crops were reported as having suffered in this way.

Our inclination to support Mr. Davis in preference to Mr. Robinson is strengthened by occurrences in the political world since our last issue. They have each addressed a Warren audience since then, and while we should not hesitate to vote for Mr. Robinson on the second trial, if the first should show him to be the preference of the Opposition in this District, we feel our relative predilection for Mr. Davis confirmed by what we have seen and heard. No one could have listened to his address on Saturday evening, without a consciousness that they listened to the words of one who was animated by a steadfast political integrity superior to that which can be accorded to a great majority of those who come before the people for such offices. We have said before, and we repeat it, that Mr. Davis is more ultra in his views than meets our approval; but he stands within the constitutional lines relating to the internal affairs of the Slave States, and we prize too highly his earnest, energetic opposition to the present Administration, to refrain from giving him our feeble aid to render his opposition of the most service. We feel every assurance that all who wish to signify by their votes the determined antagonism to the reigning dynasty at Washington, cannot do better than to cast their votes for Thomas Davis. They need have no fear of his recreancy under any circumstances, and now is the time when those who agree with us as to the importance of electing men whose good faith in this matter may be relied upon, should unite in giving him their hearty suffrages.—Warren Telegraph.

SCENE IN COURT.—The New York Express relates a touching incident connected with the close of the trial of James Stephens, convicted in that city of the murder of his wife. He was attended during the trial, which lasted for eighteen days, by several female relatives, including his little daughter, aged about six years. After the rendering of the verdict of guilty the jurors retired, the spectators dispersed, and the sheriff with his deputies approached the prisoner. His little girl, Bella, turned towards Stephens, and after kissing him said: "Come, pa! let us go now, it is all over, see, pa! the people are going." Human nature, says the Express, could not stand this; the sheriff turned away to hide a tear, and returned, leaving the prisoner alone with his relatives and counsel. Pocket handkerchiefs were drawn out by many present, and the attempts of the outer portion of the audience to stop up the outlet of the heart's fountains were of no avail. Such an affecting scene has rarely been witnessed.

SALE OF THE "UNION."—General Geo. W. Bowman, at present Superintendent of the Public Printing, has become sole proprietor of the Washington Union newspaper, and will take full possession of the establishment on the 11th day of April next, when he will make his own announcement of the course he intends to pursue.—Union

No doubt there is room enough in the world for men and women, but it may be a serious question whether the latter are not taking up more than their share of it.

using the first long session must depend on great measure the shape assumed by political parties in that contest. The great principles upon which it is to be fought are indeed fixed beyond their control; but the organization of forces, the tactics of a campaign, will be influenced by them to a degree that may be decisive of the issue.

Moreover, in a certain contingency it is upon the next House that will devolve the election of a President of the United States. This contingency was perhaps never more likely to occur than in the next election. The daily widening breach between Northern and Southern democrats may prevent the election of their candidate by the people, even if the opposition are not sufficiently united to be successful; and Rhode Island having in such case an equal vote with the largest State, may not improbably turn the scale.

For all these reasons to-day's Congressional election demands the most conscientious attention from every voter. It is of the very highest importance that our District should be worthily represented during the next two years. Not merely by talent, not merely by integrity, not merely by good intentions. All these are necessary to the proposed occupant of that position, but besides these we need at this time other qualities. We need experience in the peculiar duties of Congressional life; we need honesty that has already been tried by all the temptations that the seat of government can offer, and that has come out from them as gold from the furnace; we need an iron will that will bow to no earthly dictation save the sober judgment of those whom he represents.

All these are presented for our suffrages in the person of THOMAS DAVIS; and it is no discredit to his competitors, present and prospective, to say that in him they are all united in a degree unequalled in our own District, and rarely to be met with elsewhere.

The enthusiasm with which his name has been received by the party to which he owes his nomination, and the constant accessions during the past few weeks to the number of his supporters are promising omens of success. It is now admitted on all sides that he alone of all three candidates, has any chance of an election on the first vote.

If a still longer time were to elapse before the election, we should be still more confident of his success; but even now he can be chosen by a majority over both his competitors, if all who are sincerely in his favor will exert themselves aright. The choice lies between him, and no election, entailing upon the people the trouble, expense, and loss of time consequent upon a new canvass. We appeal, therefore, to men of all parties who love the right to prevent such needless delay by a hearty and unanimous support at the polls to-day, of the true and tried candidate, HONEST TOM DAVIS.

The report that the English squadron sent to Japan, got by mistake into Boston Harbor, and that the account given by them of the singular habits and customs of the isolated inhabitants applies entirely to the denizens of Beacon street, seems to gather confirmation from the following. It is probable that not being acquainted with the Boston dialect of the English language, the officer has misunderstood the proper names.

"An English officer who accompanied Lord Elgin to Japan says:—

"At Simoda, as at Nagasaki, every one seemed eternally to be taking notes of what every body else was doing. Each Japanese had his breast pockets full of note paper, and a convenient writing apparatus stuck in his belt, and every thing that was said, done, and even thought was no doubt faithfully recorded. In Japan men do not seem to converse with one another except in formal set speeches; there is no interchange of thought by means of the tongue, but the pen is ever at work noting down observations of one another. Sometimes we saw them comparing their notes and granting dissent from opinions or facts recorded. At first we rather felt this to be a system of espionage, but we soon became accustomed to it; and provided every man wrote down what he saw and heard it may be more satisfactory in the long run to have to do with a nation of Captain Cutlives, who have 'made a note' of every thing, and so have more than their memories to trust to."

Oscar W. Sturtevant died at the Astor House, at 11 o'clock Friday night, after an illness of three days. He was elected Alderman of the 3d Ward three times successively, was a lawyer by profession, and was well known throughout the city. His age was 49 years.—N. Y. Com.

He was the leader of the recusants in the City Council against the injunction of the Supreme Court in regard to the Broadway Railroad Scheme, and was otherwise concerned in matters which brought the city government into unenviable notoriety.

The Lynchburg Virginian thus alludes to the proposed celebration, by the Republicans of Washington, of the birth-day of Jefferson:—

"What will the Virginia Democracy say to this? The great leader of the Democracy—the founder and head of the Democratic church—the Apostle of the true faith—subjected to an apotheosis at the hands of the Black Republicans! We hold our breath in absolute dismay at such sacrilege. We clutch, instinctively, the resolutions of '98 and '00, and we fancy we hear the old leaders of the Virginia Democracy rumbling uneasily in their graves. We will not even venture to conjecture what the Virginia Democracy may feel on this occasion, but it is not unlikely that the Washington Republicans will say—'let 'em rumble.'"

THE CONGRESSIONAL ELECTION.
 Before the next number of this paper is issued the Spring Election will have passed and many questions of great importance to the people of this State have been decided. None of these deserve more careful consideration while there is yet time for action than the election of Member of Congress in this the Eastern District of the State.

The Thirty-Sixth Congress will have to meet responsibilities as great as ever have been imposed upon a similar body since the adoption of the Federal Constitution.—They will find the Treasury bankrupt, the Post Office existing only by the sufferance of its creditors, the nation very probably engaged in war with one or more of the South American States on questions that not one in a hundred of the people knows anything about; and the Administration despised and thwarted alike by opponents and friends; and all political parties a dim men watching every motion and every expression with a view to the impending Presidential election. Upon their action we trust that every reader of the News who is entitled to a vote, will deposit that vote to-day, remembering that to do so is to discharge the duty which he owes as a citizen. Whichever way those votes are cast, a full and intelligent attendance at the polls is the first requisite, and the truest safeguard of a free government.

We do not mean, however, that we are indifferent to the result. We urge once more, as we have repeatedly done throughout the campaign, the claims of the Republican State Ticket. Three of its nominees are morally sure of an election; but we owe it to the other two and to the party, to see that not a single vote is lost. If any Republican fails to vote for Thomas J. Hill, and Robert R. Carr, he will be helping the American Republican faction in their policy of dividing the opposition in this State, and excluding from it all who will not follow their dictation. These gentlemen are well worthy of your support. The latter especially is well known to the citizens of this town personally, and in politics for almost half a century of active life. His integrity is unimpeachable; his whole life has been one of industry and the faithful performance of arduous duties; and no one who knows him can for one instant doubt his fitness for any position of trust which he will accept, or which the people may bestow upon him.

Let every Republican, then, whom we address this morning, devote his efforts this day to placing the Republican party of Rhode Island in the position to which it is rightfully entitled, by the election of its entire ticket for State Officers.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED IN YOUR TICKETS. MANY TRICKS WILL BE ATTEMPTED. SEE THAT EVERY NAME IS CORRECT.
